- With a mere 3 months of martial arts training in his repertoire, Phelan defied his parents and entered the semi-legal Eagle Rock Kyokushin Regional Tournament in July. Training like a (violent) monk, Phelan sculpted his 90 pound body into a sinewy war machine. The only white belt in a division boasting green and brown belts weighing from 125-150 pounds, Phelan displayed superior foot & hand speed, as well as indefatigable stamina, to capture the 1st place trophy. His parents hope to turn him professional as soon as they can find him a bogus ID. We smell money.
